Getting started

Many people experience our brand by seeing one of the thousands of presentations Red Hatters deliver each year.

From Summit keynotes to conference-room sales meetings, we want our public face to be coherent and recognizable. Our content must be meaningful and relevant to our audiences. Our stories should be told in a clear, compelling way.

Quick tip
For more information on how to update the confidential designator, learn more here.

Updating/deleting the confidential designator:

Update the designator in Google Slides by choosing “Slide,” then “Edit Theme.” Scroll up to the top. Copy the appropriate designation and paste it into the field in the upper right without text formatting. For general distribution, delete the confidential designator.

Red Hat associates only

Change the designator on the theme slide to:

Confidential: Red Hat associates only

Use this designation for a confidential presentation that can only be shared with Red Hat associates. The Red Hat associate(s) who receive this deck can share it with other Red Hat associate(s), but no one else.

Red Hat associates only (contains PII)

Change the designator on the theme slide to:

Confidential: Specific Red Hat associates only (contains PII)

Use this designation for RH-Restricted information that includes PII. PII stands for information that is “personal data” or “personally identifiable information.”

Red Hat associate and NDA partner use only

Change the designator on the theme slide to:

Confidential: Red Hat and NDA partners

Use this designation for a confidential presentation intended only for the Red Hat associate(s) and partner(s) with signed NDA who receive the deck originally. The Red Hat and NDA partner associate(s) who receive this deck cannot share it with anyone—even other Red Hat and partner associate(s).

Red Hat and [specific partner] associate(s) use only

Change the designator on the theme slide to:

Confidential: Red Hat and [specific partner] associates only

Use this designation for a confidential presentation intended only for the Red Hat and [specific partner] associate(s) who receive the deck originally. The Red Hat and [specific partner] associate(s) who receive this deck cannot share it with anyone—even other Red Hat and partner associate(s).

Quick tip
Update or remove the project number, event name or hashtag on the theme slide.

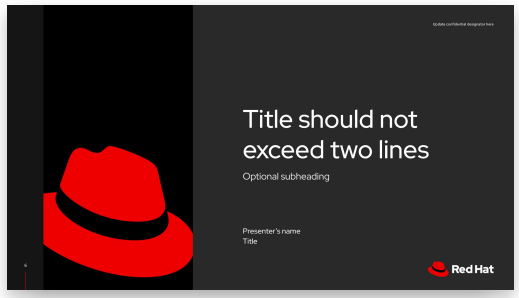

Choosing the best template for your presentation

Standard light theme

To build brand awareness, stick to the essentials. Use our logos, core colors, icons, and typography to create clean, intentional designs that are unmistakably Red Hat.

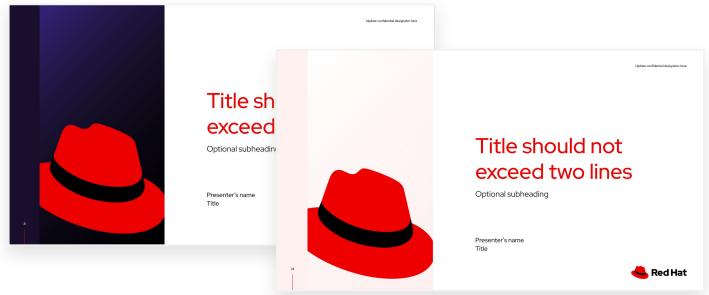

Standard dark theme

To build brand awareness, stick to the essentials. Use our logos, core colors, icons, and typography to create clean, intentional designs that are unmistakably Red Hat.

Expressive template

To tell stories that connect, use hybrid elements—secondary colors, 3D artwork, and portraits—to showcase our technology and people in engaging ways.

Best practices for using data, tables, and graphs in presentations

Always make sure to adhere to accessibility guidelines when using data, tables, and graphs in a presentation

Link the source: Always use the “Link to spreadsheet” option when importing graphs, charts, or tables from Google Sheets into Google Slides. Doing this means that an “Update” button will appear in Slides when the source data is changed, allowing you to update the graph with one click.

Format in the source: Formatting of the graph, chart, or table will be done the Google Sheets chart editor, like selecting colors, fonts, chart type, labels, and more. Since Red Hat fonts are not available in the Google Sheets chart editor, the recommendation is to use Arial. The next slide goes into best practices for choosing colors for graphs.

Keep source files accessible: Ensure that the Google Sheet file is stored in a location accessible to all collaborators on the Google Slides presentation to avoid access issues.

Status or association	Color	Use case
Red Hat	`red`	Brand color, do not use red to represent negative things
Danger	`danger-orange`	Negative, downward trend or decrease in value
Success	`success-green`	Positive, upward trend or increase in value
Link/interaction	`interaction-blue`	Link, button, or other interactive element
Info/note tip	`purple`	Helpful information
Neutral	`gray`	General, no severity

Learn more about how we use color on the Red Hat Brand Standards website.

Providing context with color in data, tables, and graphs

When choosing colors in for data, tables, graphs use the chart on this slide to best inform what color is most applicable.

When using a pie chart, start with shades of gray and add in shades of red as needed.

In the data, tables, and timelines section there are example slide layouts using data, tables, and graphs.
